The coach park is close to castle so not much walking. There should be a mini-bus available which makes a circuit of the gardens, stopping at several points. All aspects are accessible for the less mobile.

Details: Originally a 13th century medieval fortress transformed in 17th century into a Baroque palace. The castle houses a fantastic collection of South Asian objects in the Clive Museum (Clive of India) as well as other fantastic displays. The café offers a range of good quality food and drinks or bring your own to eat in the gardens where there is plenty of seating. The gardens are outstanding with 30-foot-high cloud hedges, 17th century Italianate terraces and wonderful views across the Severn Valley.

This trip really does offer something for everyone so do bring friends and family.
